PERSHING SAYS KILLING OF AMERICANS "UNPROVOKED"

NOTE ON U-BOAT INDICTS KAISER

Wilson Drafts Final Word; to Bring 65 Counts of Pledges to the United States Violated

President Desires to Throw on Germany Responsibility for an Untoward Result of Message

Officials Examine New Evidence; Country Declared Step Nearer a Break with the Teutons

By International News Service.

Washington, April 15.—President Wilson late today completed a preliminary draft of the new note to Germany. It was then sent to Secretary Lansing, who will put it in formal shape and submit it to the President tomorrow morning. While writing the tentative text President Wilson had before him all the evidence in the submarine cases.

It was said the President has discussed with Mr. Lansing his desire to throw upon Germany the responsibility for any untoward result of the note—should there be any—such as severing diplomatic relations, and that the main difficulty in writing the note lay in the choice of words to accomplish this end.

The note is intended to be America's last word in the submarine controversy. After Mr. Lansing has incorporated into it all the legal points and evidence the President did not emphasize in his tentative draft, Mr. Wilson will revise it finally and then read it to his Cabinet and to the chairmen of the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees. It is likely the note will be on its way not later than Monday.

FIND MANY COUNTS.

Germany will be accused in sixty-five counts of violating the laws of humanity and pledges to the United States in the submarine war on commerce ships.

Although it was stated definitely that the case against Germany already had been made out, it was said at the State Department that more evidence of the failure of Germany to respect her pledges to this country had been received from Consul-General Skinner at London. Mr. Skinner added a report he had received from Consul Lathrop at Cardiff, Wales, saying that John Harrison of Chicago was on the Morgan Abbey, sunk by a submarine.

Confirmation was also received of the sinking of the bark Invertoun. The Americans on board were saved.

Secretary Lansing was asked by Senator Stone to take the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees into his confidence in the negotiations with Germany. He was informed President Wilson would advise with them concerning the situation. It was stated, however, that Mr. Wilson might not be able to see them before tomorrow night or Monday morning.

It is the impression that President Wilson intends to have the note to Germany completed before he informs the leaders of the Senate and House as to the action he has decided to take.

Mr. Flood stated today that there was no understanding with the House Foreign Affairs Committee that President Wilson would consult Congress as to its course in the U-boat issue and that he would not see the President on the matter unless invited to the White House. It is admitted, however, that he had conferred with Mr. Lansing, and that he would keep in touch with the situation.

Seanor Borah Says $8,000,000 Voted to National Guard Annually Is Either Wasted or Embezzled

By International News Service.

Washington, April 15.—Senator Borah of Idaho produced a sensation in the Senate during the debate on the Chamberlain army bill this afternoon by charging that $8,000,000 annually appropriated by the Federal Government to the National Guard has been "shamefully and disgracefully wasted and some of it actually embezzled."

"I make the charges without qualification," said Senator Borah, "and I base it on official reports of the War Department. If Senators will only examine these reports they will hesitate about approaching this proposed $50,000,000 a year provided for in the pending bill. The way officers of the National Guard have been appropriating this fund to their own use, to the exclusion of the enlisted men, is shameful and cannot be defended here except on the ground of political expediency.

"You are doing nothing but filling up this bill from beginning to end with purely political appropriations and under different circumstances you could never put it over. You see as it now may under the guise of national preparedness."

The attack was provoked when Senator Reed of Missouri introduced an amendment to the Chamberlain

Four Alarm Fire in Providence Causes Big Loss

Providence, R. I., April 15.—The five-story brick storage and store building at No. 181 Canal street was destroyed by a four-alarm fire late today.

Police and firemen estimate the damage in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The fire started in the basement, under the produce store of F. Tourtellot, on the ground floor, besides this office, in the produce store of George M. Griffin Company, and these two firms use the second floor for storage.

The upper three floors are occupied by A. T. Scattergood, furniture dealer, for storage purposes. The Scattergood store is at No. 110 North Main street, and backs on the burned building, with a twelve-foot areaway between.

It was in this areaway the firemen had their hardest fight to prevent the spread of the flames.

Mr. Scattergood said tonight, "I had $50,000 worth of furniture stored on the three upper floors of the building."

Fire Chief Reuben Weeks said: "The building and the two produce houses represent a loss of from $50,000 to $75,000, exclusive of the furniture on the upper floors."

Found! Germ of Everyday Cold

After five months of research in the preventive medicine laboratories of the Harvard Medical School, Dr. George B. Foster, Jr., captain in the Medical Corps, United States Army, has found, but has not yet been able to see the cold germ, the source of the most widespread of human infections.

"A filterable virus which passes through the minute pores of a Berkefeld porcelain filter N—as do the viruses of infantile paralysis and rabies."

That is Dr. Foster's technical analysis of a cold germ.

Dr. Foster confirms the general medical warning that afflicted persons can spread colds by coughing and sneezing and that the cold virus grows best in the absence of oxygen. Which means that sunlight and fresh air are a cold germ's most deadly foes.

GARDNER ATTACKED BY COLE

Hamilton Congressman Referred to as "the Diseased Liver of Essex County" at Banquet

The policies of the Wilson administration were assailed by all the speakers at the Old Guard gathering yesterday at the American House, except John N. Cole of Andover, who devoted his oration to Congressman Augustus P. Gardner of Hamilton.

Mr. Cole called Mr. Gardner "the diseased liver of Essex County."

He was discussing the respective merits of the Old Guard independent group of convention delegates and the Young Guard forces pledged to Theodore Roosevelt when he stopped to make a comparison between Congressman Gardner and Windsor Murray Crane.

Having declared that the Congressman, who is pledged to Mr. Roosevelt, is fighting only to secure control of the Republican machine, Mr. Cole added, with some heat:

"He has been down in Essex County raising a faction for four years to make himself boss of the roost. This is a fight between the Great Heart of Berkshire and the Diseased Liver of Essex County."

The laughter that greeted this declaration quickly died out, and Republican leaders were wondering last night whether Mr. Cole's attack on Congressman Gardner, whose preparedness doctrine is now being felt at Washington, was wise, in view of the fact that they have recently found that it was not Congressman Gard

Troops Have Reached Heart of Pro-Villa Country; "Bandit Can't Be Caught."

By JOHN REED

Noted War Correspondent and Authority on Mexico

Parral, where the American troops were fired on, is the heart of the Villa country, and one of the spots in Mexico where the Maderista tradition is strongest.

After the coup d'etat of Huerta, when Carranza, Governor of Coahuila, sent his famous answer to the Huerta order, commanding all the Mexican governors to submit to his regime: "I recognize no government in Mexico except that of Francisco I. Madero," the rebellion against Huerta broke out first near Parral.

General Lujo Herrera and General Tomas Urbina attacked the Federal troops about 50 miles south of Parral, on the road to Las Nieves, Urbina's village.

This little battle was the first encounter of the second, or Carranza, revolution, and it was at Parral that occurred that famous

DISCUSS CARRANZA DEMAND

Wilson to Treat with First Chief as to Conditions of the Withdrawal of Troops from Mexico

Washington, April 15.—President Wilson has decided to enter negotiations at once, in response to the demand for the withdrawal of the troops from Mexico that have been made by the de facto government of Mexico, for the purpose of arranging the terms upon which the United States will negotiate for the withdrawal of the troops from Mexico.

The United States government is willing to agree to fix a definite date for the withdrawal of the American troops in pursuance of the plan proposed by General Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, to make that withdrawal begin from the very day the United States government shall have come to an agreement with the de facto government as to the terms upon which the withdrawal shall be effected.

The President has decided to enter upon these negotiations, it is understood, because he is definitely convinced that the time required a peaceful settlement of the issues to be dealt with before the withdrawal can be effected is not unreasonably long.

The President's decision was reached after a conference with Secretary Lansing this morning. It was the first conference between the President and Secretary Lansing since the latter returned to Washington from his visit to Atlantic City.

The President's decision to enter upon negotiations with the de facto government of Mexico, it is understood, was reached in consultation with General Scott, who has been in constant communication with General Funston, commanding the American expeditionary forces in Mexico, and with General Pershing, commanding the punitive expedition in the field. General Scott has been in touch with the situation from the beginning of the expedition into Mexico. He was at the headquarters of General Funston at San Antonio when the latter received the first communication from the de facto government of Mexico, and was in consultation continuously with General Funston and General Pershing while the latter's expedition was in progress. United States Soldiers Victims of "Unprovoked" Assault While Entering City to Get Supplies

Forty of Assailants Fall in Clash That Followed; Mob Wreaks Spites on American Plant

Report That Natera and 1,500 Men Have Deserted Carranza to Join the Villa Standard.

EL PASO, April 15.—General Panfilo Natera, who caused the split between Carranza and Villa, has deserted the Carranza standard with 1,500 men to join Villa.

Natera has abandoned Leon, burned the town of Santa Maria and started north. The information was brought here by courier from Leon.

Washington, April 15.—The War Department tonight received the first official report of the fight at Parral. Two American soldiers and forty Mexicans were killed.

Secretary Baker issued the following statement:

"A telegram from General Funston quotes a telegram from General Pershing to the effect that he had just received information of an unprovoked attack upon American soldiers who had entered Parral to buy supplies.

"His information is that two American soldiers and forty Mexicans were killed, but no further details had been reported at the time.

"General Pershing also reports that he had given full information to General Herrera as to the position, direction and general destination of our troops pursuing Villa."

The news tended to allay anxiety as to General Pershing and the main body of troops.

Pershing Sends Men to Parral

By JOSEPH TIMMONS

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

San Antonio, Tex., April 15.—Two companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry left Columbus, N. M., today for Parral, Mexico, to join General Pershing's punitive expedition, it was announced at the headquarters of the department of the Southern here tonight. The troops will be the first to be sent to Parral by the United States government. The announcement came out of the city at a late hour tonight. It was made by the publication of the regiment assigned orders. In the regiment assigned orders. In the announcement it was said by the publication of the regiment assigned orders. ations to cope with all need to the support of Brown's army, or for messages to General Funston, that certain measures be taken for safeguarding the line of communication and strengthening the expeditionary columns.

General Funston tonight admitted this much, but declined, for obvious reasons, to state what measures Pershing had sent full speed to the extreme front of operations. Pershing had requested that he be given for new supplies of the line of the most serious.

UNPROVOKED ATTACK.

Pershing's message did not state the number of wounded in either side. They did not tell the exact fate of Colonel Brown's force, that had reached Parral and as safe as any in the encounter. Neither did they give any hint as to whether carranza soldiers took part in the attack on the unarmed American.

"An unprovoked attack on our armed American soldiers who had entered Parral to buy provisions and obtain forage is the gravest provocation Pershing ever has had to fight.

Whether Colonel Brown was in personal command, when troops of the 10th cavalry were thrown out to protect the rear guard of the column, whether they held their ground or fallen back toward the supporting columns, was Extremely all these matters General Pershing's messages are silent.

Apparently the commanding general has not had time to receive the official report of the engagement, with a request for support from the front, although the commander still the courier reported at Satevo the night, a message fraught with both hardships and danger, to the waiting men.

MESSAGE IS DUPLICATE.

The message from Pershing, the first to reach General Funston since last Sunday, came in duplicate. One copy was the technical telegraphic message from Chihuahua, to which city it had been delivered by aeroplane. Colonel Arthur of Chihuahua, compelled to put it in the State Department code and transmit it to Collector of Customs Cobb at El Paso. Cobb decoded it and delivered it to General Bell at Fort Bliss, who had it put into the army code and sent to General Funston.

Shortly after this message reached General Funston an exact duplicate of it arrived from Major Sample at Columbus.

This duplicate had been sent from Satevo to Namiquipa by aeroplane and was forwarded from Namiquipa to Columbus by telegraph and telephone wire.

Scarcely had the duplicate been taken from this at Fort Sam the Parral fight on Wednesday began.

NO REPORT ON VILLA.

Pershing made no report of the chase after Villa bandits or rumors as to the present location of the bandit chief. Evidently to the new courageous, assisted by the service of the peoples and the Carranza soldiery the army in the field, as well as the headquarters here and the administration, has temporarily lost sight of the purpose of the invasion of Mexico—to be the pursuit of Villa.

General Funston tonight openly declared that the troops had been sent to Columbus with instructions to effect the capture of Villa, dead or alive, and that no attempt would be made to stop the pursuit of the bandit chief at the Mexican border.

The report in part to-day's dispatches of the fighting between the forces of United States troops in the Parral district and mounted bandits, in which Colonel Brown and several troopers were killed, is as follows:

Anti American demonstrations and rioting in the immediate vicinity of Parral are still in progress.

The mob, composed of strangers, police and armed citizens, attacked the Villistas in an attack on the Palomita mill of the Alvarado Mining and Reduction Company one evening eight and Thursday morning. Here columns their representations.

SITUATION CRITICAL.

This statement is from the latest source, but with increased numbers attacked the large plant of the Alvarado company. The offices, mill and residences of employes were all looted. It is estimated that the damage to the plant will amount to more than $1,000,000.

The news of this last attack on American property was first received in a cipher message received by officials of the Alvarado Company this afternoon from Noah Sallee, the manager. The message was dated April 13, and said:

"Last night the natives assaulted the plant at Presana. All buildings were broken into and everything movable removed, whether or not it was of value to the looters. Everything was destroyed that was destructible. Residences and outhouses also were sacked and looted. Situation is critical."

Presana is a small mining town in the Parral-Durango railroad near Nuevas. A. J. McQuatters, chief official to whom the messages were addressed, said the American troops

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Two Americans were killed and others reported to die from wounds received in Major Frank Tompkins and a detachment of the Thirteenth cavalry were attacked by Mexican civilians.

The number of Mexicans killed was not given.

Major Tompkins and his command are safe and have established themselves in the Mexican town, according to General Funston.

This is declared to be one of the reports of an official and unofficial nature that have been received here today in connection with the fighting at San Antonio.

The general of a late hour this morning declined to admit the truth of the report.

The report is said to have come from Mexican sources, and to be a version of Carter States troops in the Parral district and mounted bandits, in which Colonel Brown and several troopers were killed.

Anti American demonstrations and rioting in the immediate vicinity of Parral are still in progress.

AGED SIRE BEREFT OF SON WANTS "ONE SHOT AT VILLA"

By DAMON RUNYON,
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

EL PASO, Tex., April 13.—Withered and weather beaten, Old Man McKinney came with the American troops in Mexico. His aged eyes constantly scoured toward the blue hills to the South, his heart nursing a single hope.

It is the hope he will live to get a single shot at Pancho Villa. Villa murdered his son, Frank McKinney, in cold blood and butchered the body. Old Man McKinney rides for vengeance, trousers flapping loosely about his spurred heels, coat tails flying in the breeze, sinuses bat down over his eyes and a big white mustache pipe draws to a thin line across his sparse teeth.

"How long am I a-goin' to keep looking?" he repeated wonderingly when he was being questioned by a number of newspaper correspondents.

Will I go a-goin' to go ex fast as I can as there are any chances of finding the feller?

He said it is a matter of fact was without any bitterness. He merely seemed a bit surprised that any one could have the slightest doubt as to the sincerity of his quest.

Old Man McKinney—his initials are J. Q.—is the father of Arthur McKinney, one of the three men who were hanged near Boca Grande a few weeks ago by the Villistas on the trail north of Columbus. William Corbett and Arthur McNeil were the other victims. Young McKinney had once been ordered out of Mexico by Villa, at a month's time he was employed on the Cornelius ranch.

He returned as an employ of the Palomas Company and it was while working for that concern that he was captured by a group of Villistas for no other reason than as a scout put in today, "he was an American."

MISSION OF VENGEANCE.

Old Man McKinney showed up at Columbus when the punitive expedition was being organized. He tried to get out with the first detachment that crossed the line, but was unable to do so.

Finally after considerable difficulty he received permission to go in.

This afternoon he was wandering along the headquarters picket line looking for a mule. When he came across a shaggy Mexican pony that was standing with its head dropped to its knees in the dust of Mexico. The old man stopped and began a careful examination of the pony. Apparently satisfied with the inspection by one of the newspaper correspondents.

"Want to buy that bird, old man," inquired the owner of the horse, who was standing near by.

"No," said Old Man McKinney, slowly straightening up and smoothing his long white beard. "I'm goin' with a gnarled hoss."

"I don't want to buy him. That's my boy's horse. He was one of a bunch of scouts that Villa stole from his father. I'm goin' to take him to Arthur's friend, a Mr. They've got another up in the sun can see the original fast enough.

It was to be said. Then it was that the story of Old Man McKinney and his quest spread, and correspondent soon naturally turned the story over to the father of the murdered boy. He thought it from a man in Columbus and held a bill of sale, but he did not question old Man McKinney's statement.

PICTURESQUE COLLECTION.

Many of the picturesque scouts who guide the American columns over the Mexican roads have grievances of one kind or another against Villa and his men. Some of them were despoiled of their property and maltreated by the bandits, others were driven out of the country and still others, like

FUNSTON HOLDS TROOPS UNDER INSTANT ORDERS

El Paso, Texas, April 15.—All commanders along the border have been ordered by General Funston to hold their troops in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

The order is believed to be due to the administration's resolve not to withdraw the troops from Mexico for the present and to prepare to the fullest extent for the continuance of the punitive expedition, now more than 400 miles south of the border.

Reports from Columbus, Deming and El Paso indicate that the Carranza troops have been ordered to fall back to Chihuahua, Ojita and Aguas Calientes.

CARRANZA'S ORDERS TO U. S. IMPOSSIBLE AND INSOLENT, WARNS HALE

By WILLIAM BAYARD HALE,

"OUTRAGEOUS IMPOSITION."

The demand made by the President of the United States by Venustiano Carranza, and virtually accepted by the American Government, is simply outrageous and insolent. It is an insult to the United States, to the American people and to President Wilson, which the American government, the American people and every American citizen should resent.

Carranza proposes to withdraw his troops from Chihuahua only on condition that the United States withdraw all of its troops from Mexico. This is an impertinence to which there can be but one answer

FRENCH OPEN BIG ATTACK AGAINST FOE

Pierce Trenches on Dead Man's Hill, But the Men Who Break Through Die by the Bayonet

By International News Service.

London, April 15.—A violent French counter stroke against all the German positions along the wooded strip reaching to the westward from the Meuse was initiated today. Centering on Dead Man's Hill, the attack spread to all the German positions south of the Corbeaux Wood and in the Cumieres Wood.

Despite the decimating fire of the German cannon and machine guns the French gained a footing on the German trenches on Dead Man's Hill, according to the Berlin report. The German statement adds, however, that those that gained the goal of the attack were killed at the point of the bayonet.

The fighting today, according to the French statement, ceased at midnight, reverted to violent exchanges of artillery fire which, on the west bank of the Meuse, was heaviest in the region of the Cumieres Wood and Esnes. On the east bank of the river artillery exchanges occurred in the region of Douaumont and south of the Haudromont Woods.

"Our artillery on both sides of the Meuse co-operated in the bombardment of the attacking forces. The attacks broke down with the heaviest of losses.

"The few of the enemy that penetrated into our trenches were killed. On the right side of the Meuse and in the Woevre plain there were heavy artillery duels.

Report Great Activity on Greek Frontier

By International News Service.

Paris, April 15.—There has been intense artillery activity on the Greco-Bulgarian frontier on which both the Entente allies and the Teuton-Bulgarian forces took part, according to an official report issued tonight.

Patrols and aero squadrons have also been engaged. The statement says:

"Army of the Orient—From the 9th to the 15th of April there was no important action on the Greek frontier. The activity by the artillery on both sides and that of the patrols, however, was intense.

"Several small skirmishes resulted notably at Poliska, Kosyani and Neselh and to the southeast of Doiran, where a strong German reconnoitering party was put to flight.

"On the 8th, 9th and 13th of April, German aeroplanes dropped bombs over the villages of Matasselh and Sarigold without causing any damage.

"During the night of the 12th-13th of our aeu squadrons bombarded the German military establishments at Dorghali. On the night of the 13th another squadron composed of twenty-three machines threw projectiles against numerous German camps and batteries at Bogorodsko."

Aviator "Raids" Wasington as Object Lesson

By International News Service.

Washington, April 15.—An aerial "raid" on Washington was made tonight by Dr Lloyd Thompson, an aviator, who dropped a number of "bombs" of the kind used in fireworks displays.

The White House was advised by War Department watchmen of the aviator's flight and President Wilson watched the exhibition from the south veranda.

The big searchlight at the army war college was used vainly to pick up the aeroplane during its flight. It could not be seen although the night was clear, until the aviator dropped the loon with his machine lighted up by the magnesium flares.

"Had I used real, effective explosives of the deadly order I could have blown the Capitol and White House off the map," said Thompson. "My purpose in making today's test over the residential, business and national building sections of Washington was to employ the most effective method of impressing officials and members of Congress how clearly at the mercy of hostile aircraft are the great cities of our country."

Austrians Win Four-Hour Battle of Aeroplanes

By International News Service.

Vienna, via Berlin, April 15.—A two-hour battle in the air at close quarters between Russian and Austrian battle-planes is reported in the Austro-Hungarian official statement issued tonight. It says:

"Seven Russian aeroplanes among them four battle machines, appeared over Czernowitz today. Several Austro-Hungarian fliers took to the air and gave battle. After an engagement lasting two hours the Austro-Hungarian fliers shot down one Russian battleplane at a distance of thirty feet. The Russian squadron then fled. Six machines of aeroplanes landed near Boyan, between Dobrudja lines. It was destroyed by our artillery fire."

TAKES SWEDISH SHIP AS GERMAN PRIZE

Hamburg, April 15.—The German prize court today ordered the seizure of the Swedish ship Ida, which was captured by a German man-of-war while on her way from Sweden to Hull, England.

the St. Paul were turnover to Secretary Lansing today. The contents of mail brought by the vessel were distributed at the State Department.

No one here doubts that sending of the new communication is not an actual ultimatum, unless this country one more step may break with Germany.

An interesting question present is what will be the effect of the closure of the plan of the Lansing on leaders in Congress who have to do with the foreign relations.

MEBESTOUPT MAY CALL.

It has not been made clear here the President in conference with Senators Stone and Kern and Representative Flood, caused them such alarm that they returned to the Capitol and excited their colleagues with the impression a rupture with Germany and probable war were close at hand.

Whether the new conference will have any such effect in arousing Congress remains to be seen.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, today had no instructions from his government. It became known, however, that instructions of some nature were expected, possibly within the near future.

The Ambassador had no appointment to confer with Secretary Lansing, but it was intimated he might call at the State Department early next week.

SHAKESPEARE FETE BY EMERSON FOLK

A Shakespearean pageant, in which the entire student body of the Emerson College of Oratory will take part, will be held in Jordan Hall on Saturday evening, April 22. The participants will wear Elizabethan costumes. The faculty will represent the court of St. Elizabeth. Miss Jessie Eldridge Southwick will portray the character of Queen Elizabeth, President Henry L. Southwick, the Earl of Leicester; Dean Harry B. Ross, William Shakespeare. Features will include singing of old English songs by the College Glee Club, old English catch songs, male trio, old Elizabethan dances, members of Aesthetic Dancing Class, court duel dance, Miss Margaret Longstreet and Miss May Wyne, trio of stringed instruments.

U. S. ALLOWS FRENCH ARMED BOAT TO SAIL

Washington, April 15.—The State Department today ordered the Treasury Department to permit the French armed merchantman Radiolene to clear from New Orleans. The Radiolene arrived there several days ago and the collector of the port refused clearance papers, because of the mounted guns of the ship's decks until the authorities here had ruled on the case.

It is understood that the commander of the Radiolene pledged to use the guns only for defence.

MISTREATMENT OF PRISONERS DENIED

By International News Service.

Berlin, via Sayville Wireless, April 15.—The North German Gazette today printed a semi-official denial of reports published recently in England and America that prisoners of war in Germany were being mistreated. It adds that a committee of American doctors who recently visited the prison camp at Wittenberg, reported the sanitary conditions as being perfectly satisfactory.

ATTEMPTS TO KILL GERMAN SOCIALIST

The Hague, April 15.—The news of an attempt by a woman to assassinate Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader in the German Reichstag, was brought here today by travelers from Berlin. Two shots were fired, both of which missed. The woman was arrested, but the German papers were forbidden to publish the incident.

STANDARD OIL OFFICIALS MAY BE PROSECUTED

Rockefeller, Archbold and Other Leaders May Face Criminal Charge.

Washington, April 15.—Officials of the Department of Justice announced this afternoon that they are considering bringing criminal action against John D. Rockefeller, John D. Archbold and other leaders of oil trusts and directors.

It was stated that the Supreme Court's dissolution decree in the Standard Oil "trust" suit never was carried into effect. It was pointed out that that action was entirely a civil one, and because it was not obeyed the department could not be justified in bringing criminal action against the Standard Oil officials under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Officials are disposed to believe that the Standard Oil Company is responsible for the increasing gasoline prices.

Fall River Boat Disabled, 500 Go to Boston by Rail

By International News Service.

New York, April 15.—The steamship Plymouth, on the Fall River line drifted about helpless for over two hours tonight, but no accident to the boat disabled.

The steamship with 500 passengers aboard left Pier 34, North River, at 6 o'clock for Fall River. Just off Pier 70 the Plymouth met the Providence steamship Priscilla, bound from South street. The two ships were so close together that a collision seemed inevitable. Both vessels stopped, and for the next two hours drifted about helpless. When the Plymouth started again it was found that the Priscilla had disappeared. Apparently nothing had happened to the steamship, and the passengers were not informed of the incident.

BELIEVES HIS WIFE IS BEING HELD PRISONER

Boston Stenographer Strangely Missing; Husband Appeals to the Police to Aid in Search

Fearing his wife has met with foul play or is detained in a Rochester house against her will, Jacob Ellenne of No. 64 Bridge street, New Bedford, has appealed to the police in Boston and surrounding cities and towns to aid him in his search.

The woman, Mrs. Emma F. Ellenne, was employed as stenographer by a Devonshire street, Boston, firm and while in Boston lived at 1 Rue Hanover street, West End, where it was said last night she was known as an author. She passed Sundays with her husband and their eight-year-old son Frank, at their home in New Bedford.

Mrs. Ellenne is twenty-six years old. According to her husband's story, Mrs. Ellenne was to appear as principal witness in a court case in Roxbury and the case had to be postponed several times because of his non-appearance. The case finally was to trial without her testimony and was decided against her.

MAKE SEARCH IN VAIN.

"I do not know where my wife is or Mr. Ellenne. "Her continued absence and her apparently unaccountable disappearance from home is causing me great deal of worriment. I fear that some one with foul play in view is detaining her in a house in Rochester against her will. I have printed the following advertisement in the ADDISONIAN in the 'Information Wanted' column in its issue of April 16 and in every issue of each week thereafter:

"E. E.—Everything is O. K. at home. Frank and I received a message from a friend of mine's informing me she was keep a prisoner against her will in some neighborhood house. From the corner of Meadow and Rochester streets in Rochester, N. Y. Frank and myself started all three of you. Look longing on the street and well be there soon. JACK."

"My wife and I were on the eve of separation. We had decided to live no more together. We decided to separate in May and Frank, Thursday. When we left Rochester we had a row and we wept. He continually cries for her. So do I. Now that she is gone I cannot sleep with any if nothing has happened to her."

WOMAN OF REFINEMENT.

Mrs. Ellenne is a graduate of No. 11 Hancock street, West End, with whom Mrs. Ellenne roomed until.

"Mrs. Ellenne was a clever woman. She had taken a course in shorthand, too. She was a great lover of books, being an authoress. I would call her a woman of refinement. She was employed in some publishing house in Rochester.

"She left here about four weeks ago. She told me her son was sick and that she would go there to see him. She left here to go to see her husband and son and told me no more. I have not heard from her now in two weeks getting along. I did not get a letter from her.

"She is a woman of fine character, which we all admired. She impressed us as a woman of great heart. She was really wrapped up in her husband and son. I cannot account for her continued absence."

At Mrs. Ellenne's place of employment she was spoken of in the highest terms. Those with whom she worked were mystified at her disappearance.

CAMBRIDGE MAYOR OUSTS LEGAL ADVISER

Mayor Wendell D. Rockwood of Cambridge removed from office City Solicitor James F. Aylward, appointing Attorney Henry T. Dolan in his place.

Aylward is a Democrat. Dolan is a former president of the Republican Ward and City Committee of Cambridge, and campaigned for Mayor Rockwell in the latter's two campaigns.

The manner was able to remove Aylward through the provisions of a recent enacted law, which permits a mayor to take such action without going to the City Council.

$20,000 RECEIPTS AT FRENCH BAZAAR

Society Women Achieve Big Success in Efforts to Help War Victims.

The French bazaar sponsored by Boston society women closed last night in Horticultural Hall with a record attendance and about $20,000 raised for the benefit of the orphans and disabled soldiers in France.

Booth sale receipts were greatly increased by the earnings of debutante daughters in white cape and gowns, who sold post cards, candy, sachet bags and other articles on the floor.

Another money maker was the needle booth at the basket entrance. Where a group of busy needle women in a darling dress and cap sold fancy work and trifles in this booth, which was in charge of Mrs. Frank Bolles. Among the women who assisted her were the Misses Eleanor Spencer, Isabelle Chandler, Jane Peters, Dora Bell, Eleanor Sanborn, Dorothy Eden, Eleanor Chandler, Lucy Peters, Cecile Hamilton, Constance Henry, Beal, Anna Page and Polly Page and others.

Flowers were sold on the main floor, with a top corsage in Hostess Orchestra's name.

Another interesting booth was that of Mrs. Cabot Lodge, Miss Dorothy Lodge, Miss Constance Lodge, Miss Elizabeth Lodge and Miss Katharine Lodge, assisted by Miss Eleanor Lee, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Miss Eleanor Lee, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Miss Eleanor Lee, Miss Elizabeth Lee,

BOY FOUND SLAIN AFTER RANSOM NOTE

Body of Missing "Billy" Clark of Albany Discovered Naked and Mutilated in Lonely Creek

By International News Service.

Albany, N. Y., April 15—Stripped of outer clothing, the body of "Billy" Clark, the eight-year-old Albany boy who mysteriously disappeared a month ago, was found near the six-mile waterworks west of Albany today.

An examination of the body resulted in a coroner's verdict that the child had been murdered.

The verdict was based on the fact that the body was not emaciated, and that the few articles of clothing remaining on it had been disarranged, Coroner Warren R. Hastings said.

I feel of the opinion that the boy is the victim of a degenerate."

Extra details of police were put at work on the case as soon as the verdict was announced.

Nothing found near the body would indicate how the boy met his death, the signers of a note demanding $30, delivered to his aunt, Mrs. John Duva, a few weeks ago.

The note was signed "The Black Hand," and contained a threat to kill the boy unless his aunt and uncle were ready to turn over the money.

The time there was a disposition to disregard the note, because of the failure to describe how the money was to be delivered.

The child's coat and hat were found Sunday. Early this morning a searching party started out from this spot.

The party had been out only a few minutes before the leaders came upon the body. It was lying in the middle of a creek in about six inches of water. The child's neck was broken and the body horribly mutilated.

The locality in which the body was found has been deserted for years, except for a band of squatters, known as the Pinebush band. They have always been looked upon by the police as dangerous.

Observe Humane Day in Schools All Over the State on Tuesday

Societies Co-operate in Arranging Stories, Recitations, Poems and Readings on Animals

How would you like to keep a toad's boarding house? They are big eaters.

Tuesday will be Humane Day in the public schools of Massachusetts and many other States, by arrangement of the American Humane Educational Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals with school authorities.

These organizations have issued to the schools pamphlets containing suggestions for Humane Day exercises, consisting of readings, stories, recitations, poems and so on relating to proper treatment of domestic animals and kindred topics.

One of the articles is entitled "The Study of the Toad." It tells a lot of nice things about the lowly toad and credits him with an appetite that is simply staggering.

35 WORMS AT ONE MEAL.

For instance, one toad is on record as eating fifty-five earthworms at a meal.

Another accepted sixty-five large celery worms for dinner.

Another kept on devouring flies until he had taken in eighty-six—all in less than ten minutes.

These figures are given to show how toads live on destructive insects and are worth a good deal to mankind, particularly to farmers. It is figured that every toad is worth $20 a year to the farmer.

In these days of high cost of living—when restaurants are tacking a nickel on the price of soup and a dime on the cut of meat—happy is Brer Toad whose big supply never fails.

A poem, appropriate to Spring and moving time, is contributed to the pamphlet by Mrs. M. F. Butts, as follows:

TO RENT—A BIRD HOUSE.

A house to rent. A house to rent!
A cozy, first-class tenement.
With airy chambers, sweet and wide,
And lovely views on every side.

Away from danger it is set,
Safe to four- or-more is free;
In style the folks are fine as fly,
Through waving branches arched and high.

The rent is cheap—a song or two,
When the green leaves are wet with dew.

WOMAN'S DEATH IS MYSTERY

Two Lynn Doctors, Now on Bail, Declare They Tried to Save Life After a Sudden Summons

The Lynn police and the office of the District-Attorney yesterday investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Jessie W. Ham at her home, No. 21 Great Wood road, Lynn.

Two Lynn physicians, Dr. Percy W. Wentzell and Dr. Nathan L. Jacobson, both of Summer street, were arrested in connection with the death, after the medical examiner's report and arraignment in court yesterday.

Dr. Wentzell was held in $5,000 and Dr. Jacobson in $2,000 for a hearing on April 28.

Medical Examiner Joseph B. Pinkham said after visiting the Ham house:

"I found evidence which led me to believe that illegal medical treatment had been administered."

Mrs. Ham was the wife of James A. Ham, compositor on a Lynn newspaper. There are three children, aged four and two and one-half years and eight months.

The husband was at work when the tragedy fell upon his home. He nearly collapsed when the news was telephoned to him, and declared that he did not even know of his wife's condition.

Mrs. Ham died at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. C. Blair, one of the city physicians, who had been called in on the case, notified the medical examiner, who later reported to the police. Doctors Wentzell and Jacobson were taken in custody, and later released on bail.

TO APPEAL IN WHITMORE WILL CASE

Contestants in Hearing in Which 'Twilight Sleep' Testimony Figured to Carry Case Higher Up

Worcester, April 15—Counsel for the contestants will enter an appeal against the verdict of a jury upholding the will of Mrs. Harriet Whitmore of Douglas in the so-called "twilight sleep" case.

The verdict was based upon expressions from both thirties of which were given by the contestants [illegible]

Mrs. Whitmore, prominent in both [illegible] in 1911 on the Western Shore, called the baby of her fifteen years [illegible] Mrs. Louisa Hol[illegible]

[illegible] entered by the testators and widow, Mr. Emory A. Dunn and Mrs. Annie E. Sargeant of Uxbridge.

[illegible] raised three issues, [illegible] Whitmore was of sound mind when she made the will and whether she was unduly influenced by [illegible] husband, Dr. Samuel [illegible] Holbrook.

[illegible] found for the will on all issues.

JURY UPHOLDS WILL

"Did you give directions at home [illegible] Holbrook was asked during the trial. "That when Mrs. Whitmore died the drugs you had brought should be gathered up and sent to me?"

"I believe I wanted the 'twilight sleep book,'" he replied.

Dr. Holbrook denied having ordered he an anthesia, but said that it was only because of the objections [illegible] Mrs. Whitmore's estate.

Dr. H. Louis Stokes, superintendent of the Grafton State Hospital, testified that the "twilight sleep" causes a patient's memory to become hazy. He said that symptoms similar to those shown throughout the week before the will was drawn were consistent with the continued administration of this drug.

The will was signed with her first name scrawled in pencil, and with the final [illegible] erased off. Telling of this the day the will was drawn, Dr. Holbrook, who was present at the time, said that Francis Brady, the lawyer who drew up the will, called Mrs. Whitmore's attention to the way the name was spelled and asked if she desired it spelled it that [illegible] Miss Cora testifying was that Mrs. Whitmore replied that she did not and that she then crossed off the final [illegible] Nurses' own signatures by Mrs. Whitmore's [illegible] Holbrook to show where she frequently did sign her name with a mark [illegible]

Dr. Stokes testified that this was indicative of a condition that would be consistent with the continued administration of a "twilight sleep" drug.

NURSES TESTIFY.

The most sensational testimony [illegible] Miss Elizabeth Cavanaugh, another nurse at the hospital that Dr. Holbrook ordered additional drugs [illegible] quiet Mrs. Whitmore, excluded from Mrs. Whitmore's room at the hospital. Miss Cavanaugh testified that he changed this order on September 29, the day after the will was drawn, and told it would be [illegible] to come.

After the first note of "twilight sleep drug," declared Miss Cavanaugh, Mrs. Whitmore slept deeply and it was impossible to arouse her. She declared she saw birds in cross, where there were no birds or trees, and said Dr. Holbrook told her she would be [illegible] her.

Dr. Holbrook vigorously denied that he had urged the burning of a will upon Mrs. Whitmore. He declared that he did not [illegible] at the time the will was read that she had made any will or that the family had been preferred in it.

Miss Ella Bryant, another nurse, testified that on the night Mrs. Whitmore died Dr. Holbrook said to the witness, "Send your bill to Mrs. Whitmore's estate to be settled. Mr. Smith is to get most of it, as he was most kind to her." Miss Bryant was the third nurse employed for Mrs. Whitmore.

Attorney Brady told on the stand of being called to make the will. He said that he was called by telephone by Dr. Holbrook on the night of September 27, and that about 9 o'clock in the evening Dr. and Mrs. Holbrook appeared at his house.

CHANGES IN SOUTH BOSTON CAR ROUTES

Beginning today and continuing for several weeks, certain Dover street car lines will be diverted from their regular routes and operated over temporary routes on account of construction work on the extension of the subway station at Dorchester avenue and Broadway.

All inbound Dover street cars will be operated via Broadway extension, outbound Dover street cars will be operated over Dover street, West Fourth to C street and then to their regular route.

The Kendall square-South Boston line will be operated via the new connections over Broadway extension, Washington street, Eliot street and Dartmouth street. Eliot street and Dartmouth square, the rest of the line being made on the regular route.

CHARGES BOSTON GIRL TOOK CASH

Providence, R. I., April 15—Frank R. Smith, 29, collector for an express company, told the police, according to Captain of Inspectors George H. Sullivan, he met a Boston girl here April 10 and journeyed to Fall River and Boston. He had $173.81 of the company's money, which was missing on his return. Smith will be charged with embezzlement. He said he did not know the girl.

Many Society Women Becoming Experts on the Rifle Range

"The response by learning how to shoot [illegible] is great so far as I can see. [illegible] have been attended the lectures of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness at No. 60 Mount Vernon street.

A dozen or more society women, as well as many representative business men, are members of these classes, which are conducted by experts. The [illegible] street school of marksmanship is under the charge of Major John M. Poorman.

Among those who have recently become excellent shots at twenty-five yards are Miss Eleonora Sears, Miss Mabel Cary, A. Smith, Marguerite Hadley and Elizabeth May Gwynn.

These women visit the shooting gallery daily, and have astonished many of the men who are each shots at the rapidity with which they "get the range" of the rifle.

The women go to the lower gallery, where the women are exclusively the shooting gallery, and many of the women's names are [illegible] exhibition.

Great practice is growing rapidly popular with many women of leisure," said Major Purdy. "The society girls that I have seen do not [illegible] that they are [illegible] the name of preparedness, but they have no doubt [illegible] ideas of making [illegible] I think some of them would make good [illegible] in the event of war, and in the excitement of war [illegible] would accept the job with [illegible]

Mrs. Lucy A. Smith, a business woman, is a crack rifle shot, is enthusiastic over the work.

"It is the last exercise after a strenuous day that I know of," she declared. "It is entirely different from what I have been doing," said Miss Smith, "and I really enjoy it."

In the first place, women get over their awkwardness easily when they get [illegible] rifle in their hands. It gives [illegible] confidence. I have no more fear [illegible] rifle now than I have [illegible] an umbrella.

A woman after she gets used to [illegible] rifle, I think, would be of service [illegible] at times in special places.

It is my best exercise after business hours. You are learning much from shooting, in control of nerves and muscles. All the women I have talked with at the range say that they mean to become expert shots. I do not see but we could do something to protect our country and our homes if war should come."

The telephone girls of many exchanges are carrying on a series of competitions at the range. The cartridges used are .22 calibre and the rifles weigh about nine pounds. While this rifle range has only been opened a short time, it is now proposed to increase its usefulness by a larger range for the expert marksmanship.

SEVERAL SHOTS IN BACK BAY CHASE

Residents of St. Stephens and Gainsboro streets and those leaving the Boston Opera House after the performance last night were startled by the firing of several shots by Patrolman Frank A. Kelly of the Back Bay station in pursuit of two men alleged to have attempted to steal an automobile of a commercial chemical company from the rear of the Opera House.

Patrolman Kelly was on St. Stephens street when he noticed two men cranking a machine. As he approached them they ran down St. Stephens street refusing to stop at command. They turned into Gainsboro street and [illegible] a high speed with the officer in pursuit. In the chase the shots were fired.

One of the men escaped. The other was found hiding in an ash shed and was caught. At the Back Bay station he gave his name as William Allen, twenty-four years old and said he lived in the South End.

NINE CAPTURED IN A GAMBLING RAID

Nine men were arrested in a gaming raid at No. 25 East Canton street early today. Three men jumped from a second story window onto a roof and fled up an alley. They were caught by Detectives Hurley, King and McGillivray, who with Sergeants Livingston and Reardon were among the raiding officers. The men were charged with gaming on the Lord's day.

STRIKE TIES UP BOSTON VESSELS

A general strike of members of the International Seamen's Union, involving 100,000 men in the various seaports in the United States, was declared at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. "They demand a higher wage and shorter hours. At least 500 men responded to the call in Boston.

The strike involves marine engineers, firemen, coal passers and oilers who man the various steamers which operate along the Atlantic coast.

As a result of the strike a number of steamers and other craft scheduled to sail from Boston yesterday afternoon and evening were tied up at their docks last night.

The steamer Governor Dingley of the Eastern Steamship Corporation, which was scheduled to leave Boston at 5 o'clock, did not get away till midnight, and it was only through the good offices of the union officials that the steamer was able to get away at all.

"The strike, it was said last night, may spread today and tomorrow to other kindred trades.

STOPS VICE RAIDS BY COLLEGE MEN

A bill to prevent the employing of college students under the age of twenty-one in the suppression of vice or in work along the reform line has been filed at the State House. The time for the filing of bills has expired, but the Committee on Rules will give a hearing Monday on the advisability of entering the bill this year.

The bill reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, corporation or association to employ any student under the age of twenty-one, of any university, college or school, as a detective, informer or otherwise in the suppression of vice or in the detection, arrest or prosecution of any criminal or alleged criminal."

Section 2 of the bill provides for a fine of $5 to $100.

NOTHING IS OVERLOOKED BY PADDERS

Investigators Find City Budget Loaded with Nice Little Items Citizens Are Asked to Pay

While the public is dazed at some of the larger items of pay roll padding, waste and extravagance at City Hall as shown in reports of the Finance Commission's investigators, the same investigators charge the politicians did not even overlook the small change, but slipped into the budget unnecessary small items here and there, wherever they saw a chance.

Consider first the case of James T. Murtaugh, cashier in the building department. He was already bonded for the faithful performance of his duty. When the new administration came in, say the investigators, through Peter J. Fitzgerald, late grocer of Somerville, Mass., but now insurance agent, he was compelled to take out another bond.

PREMIUM OF $20.

The premium was $20, although the premium on the first bond, which is for the same amount, was only $15. This was done, the investigators say, "solely to give Mr. Fitzgerald a chance to pocket a commission."

Here's another thing which the Finance Commission's representatives say was done to make business good for Grocer Fitzgerald. The building department insured an auto. It was claimed that the description of the auto in the policy did not fit the auto. Anyway the auto was insured over again and no rebate was made on the first policy, making an alleged overcharge of $66 to the city.

The Finance Commission declares the reason that the first policy was not cancelled is because Mr. Fitzgerald would have been compelled to disgorge a commission already collected, something which is not approved of in our highest political circles.

It used to be the custom to pay the twenty-seven assistant registrars of voters $4 a day and $4 a night extra for night work. Naturally under this

Edith Elliott Applies for License to Wed

Miss Edith January Elliott, daughter of President Howard Elliott of the New Haven Railroad, whose marriage to Edmund Pendleton Rogers of New York will take place on April 29, applied personally at the registrar's office at City Hall, where she filed her marriage intentions.

Miss Elliott was becomingly gowned in a blue serge suit. She was unaccompanied and except by a few officials she was not recognized.

Mr. Rogers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Rogers of Hyde Park-on-the-Hudson and New York. He is a graduate of Yale, class of '95, and is a member of many New York and Boston clubs.

'Prettiest Girl' Kept Manchester Wedding Secret

Manchester, N. H., April 15.—It became known today that Miss Marjorie E. Drew, considered the handsomest girl in Manchester, had taught school for an entire term although she was a married woman and there is an ordinance against the employment of any but single women as regular instructors here.

Cards were issued today announcing that on December 21, Miss Drew became the wife of Thomas H. Wolahan of Concord, former secretary to Governor Robert P. Bass, and now secretary of the New Hampshire Defense League. Miss Drew was connected with the teaching staff of the Wilson grammar school.

Great Campaign to Advance the Cause of Health and Happiness Grows Daily.

Interest in the AMERICAN "Best Baby" Contest grows in Greater Boston. Enthusiasm is spreading among mothers and fathers who are sure their babies are in line for some one of the splendid prizes offered for perfect or near-perfect babies.

Nearly every one of the forty towns and cities eligible, and within thirteen miles of the State House, has now at least one entry in the contest, and most of the towns have many times one baby entered, cities such as Lynn, Somerville and Chelsea having registered dozens and scores.

Word comes from the various Milk and Baby Hygiene stations that mothers are discussing the contest and the possibility of their babies winning prizes.

There is a reawakening of interest in the whole subject of baby perfection.

DOCTORS' WORD FINAL.

It has been difficult for some mothers to realize that this baby competition is not for the purpose of finding the prettiest baby in Greater Boston, but to discover the most perfect babies from a physical and mental standpoint.

Among the hundreds of beautiful photographs sent to the Best Baby Editor are infants who appear to have all winning qualities, but no judgment can be made by the AMERICAN. The decision lies in the hands of five Boston physicians who are recognized authorities on babies. These baby experts may be trusted to know the fifty-one most perfect babies when they have carefully examined records and each individual baby reaching the final test.

The boards of health of forty cities and towns have taken active steps toward arousing interest in baby culture—as championed by the AMERICAN. Cards announcing the baby contest, together with the list of prizes, have been forwarded to the chairman of each health board by the State Board of Health, cooperating with the AMERICAN.

In Boston proper the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association has placed placards of a similar nature in each of its stations, and the nurses in charge have been asked to assist any mother wishing to enter her baby in the contest.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Questions which have come to the AMERICAN from mothers desiring to know how to treat the babies in regard to specific ills have led the Sunday editor to open a baby department, which has for its function complete information about baby culture.

Mothers who have asked concerning teething, weaning, colic, eczema, milk, food, clothing, etc., will find the best and latest information in this Sunday department.

Dr. Mary T. Moore has placed herself at the disposal of the AMERICAN and will answer questions through the week as well as in the Sunday paper. Dr. Moore has charge of the post-natal clinic connected with the Homeopathic Hospital, and is an authority on what makes a perfect baby.

At the same time that this baby contest is going on here in Greater Boston six other large American cities, where the Hearst newspapers are published, are busy finding perfect and better babies. The try between babies found in these cities will be finally compared to see which section of the country—California, the Middle West, the South, New England or New York—has been able to produce the first-prize baby.

New York announces two or three thousand babies registered in this important contest.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Atlanta, New York city and Boston are now involved in the largest and most thorough search for perfect

College Girls Play 'Female' Parts at Yale

New Haven, April 15.—Yale undergraduates are not interested in the new county rule forbidding them to appear in female roles more than one season in their college dramatics.

The Yale Dramatic Association has made an innovation in giving a play with the female parts assumed by members of the New Haven Collegiate Alumnae Association. "Her Husband's Wife."

GOVERNMENT SUPPRESSES IRISH PAPERS

Four Nationalist Journals of Dublin Punished for Bitter Criticism of British War Policies

Four Nationalist newspapers have been suppressed in Dublin, Ireland, because of articles upon the British government in connection with the war. They are "The Irish," Honorius," "The Hard" and "The Gaelic Athlete."

The Irish Weekly Examiner and Hibernian, Weekly Independent (from contributors to Belfast Weekly News and the Belfast Freeman) are among the Irish newspapers still coming to America. The editorial and the news columns of these papers seem to be in the sentiment of the war.

The Belfast Weekly News prints an editorial on the Allied economic campaign against the central powers, as follows:

"As the allies are already stripped to conform to a separate peace, and the second blow has not yet been struck by them. Something against economic agreements with Germany and Austria.

AT SAME TIME PROTESTS ON INCREASE OF TAXES.

"The obvious aim behind is to plot—be it unconscious—that we, in Ireland, should be required to bear with unselfish glee all the miseries of Austria at the disposal of Germany as completely as the Austrian army is under the control of the German staff. Germany is reported to have accumulated large quantities of manufactures which she will seize abroad to pay her debts as soon as the blockade is removed.

"Germany is to be an outcast until her people are brought to see the enormity of the crimes of which they are guilty. Just as the military and financial resources of the allies are great enough to ensure the overthrow of Germany in the war, so their economic resources will enable them to defeat German aggressiveness after the war."

The following appears in the same newspaper:

"At a meeting of the Dublin Cor-

portion, Alderman Breen, M. P., proposed a resolution protesting against any further taxation of Ireland. He believed there was going to be an attempt to put an additional two millions on Ireland and that would be put on food supplies.

"Mr. Chapman, replying, said the British government had as much right to collect taxes in Ireland as Germany had in Belgium. The Chancellor of the Exchequer was out to rob and he wouldn't be an Irishman if he didn't rob.

"An amendment viewing with alarm the proposed enormous increase in Irish taxation was passed by a majority of five."

Conciliatory economic conditions are also a feature of the issue of the Belfast News in this item, from already, Ulster:

"At the monthly meeting of the Limavady Urban Council the clerk stated that income tax commissioners of Coleraine in the distress owing to the high prices of food and coal, and the council should be taken to assist them.

"This has been in correspondence with the local government authorities in regard to the possibility of some such a grant from the Prince of Wales National Relief Fund. The clerk, after, had written that the object of the fund was to relieve suffering through unemployment. Who was directed to make further application for a grant from the Prince of Wales Relief Fund."

EVIDENCE OF STRONG FEELING AGAINST ENGLISH

Evidence of Irish feeling against the English and the recruiting movement is contained in two Belfast dailies concerning activities of the Redmond party. The first item, issued by "Countess Markievicz, of Dublin," is a public meeting in New York city, under the auspices of the Irish Volunteers, at which it was declared that there was today no Irishman in another country who was actively hostile to Great Britain in the present crisis. (Cheers).

"Among the men of Ireland were those who realized that the real enemy in honor to England was within their own island. They had refused to have conscription in Ireland, even the volunteers had withdrawn from the movement.

"The authorities knew they existed and were afraid of the fact. They had received a message from Mr. Asquith in which the reason no Zeppelins had dropped bombs on Ireland was because they had an ambassador at the court in Berlin. Ireland's neutrality should be written only on the minds of England with awards in the lands of Irishmen.

The following item also appears in the Belfast News:

"The first public parade of the Irish Peis Volunteers was held in Youghal on Sunday last, the occasion being four companies of the Clondulane, Monatrasna and Youghal Corps paraded on the quay, and Clondulane and carried out company drill and the different movements of a regiment. The American citizen, who was attired in green uniform and appeared to be in command.

"They afterwards marched into Youghal, where they were joined by the Donaghmore band. The marched through the town, playing national airs and when passing the American consul some recruiting

LOYALTY IN EDITORIAL JEERS IN THE NEWS

The Irish Times, which has been in its editorial columns to be second to none in its loyalty to the British cause, in its issue of last week, has the following to say:

"Here at home we shall all be pleased to hear that the Irish Volunteers are going to the front. We have always been willing to do our duty by Ireland, and we are willing to do it now. We are willing to do it by the Irish Volunteers, and we are willing to do it by the Irish Volunteers

A REMARKABLE TREE

The Fluid Distilled From It Heals and Soothes the Skin

Along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, on stony hillsides and in waste places, grows a small, common prickly cedar tree (see picture) that scientists call Juniperus Oxycedrus. From the heartwood of this tree is distilled a brownish liquid having a distinct odor somewhat resembling tar. For hundreds of years the peasants of Spain, France and Northern Africa have used this fluid to cure skin diseases both of man and of sheep, horses and other domestic animals. In more recent times this fluid was given the name of Oil of Cade, and the Medical Profession throughout the world employed it in treating eczema and many other skin troubles. It possesses remarkable healing, soothing and curative properties when applied to the skin, and seems to have been intended by Nature for this one particular purpose. Oil of Cade, combined with other beneficial drugs, is used in making Cadum Ointment, the new skin remedy. It stops itching as soon as applied and begins the healing process immediately. Probably the brownish fluid from this remarkable tree is the very thing your skin requires to be made smooth and well. If you have eczema, pimples or skin irritations of any kind, get a 25c. box of Cadum Ointment from your druggist today, or send for free sample to Omega Chemical Co., New York.

SIMPLE EXERCISE

Place the tips of fingers on the shoulders.

Bring elbows forward relaxed, then back four times.

Do this eight times.

Set on the floor.

Draw your knees up to your chest.

Clasp your arms about your knees.

Lift forward eight times then backward eight times. Repeat this exercise eight times.

Stand on one foot resting your hand on some object so that your equilibrium may be retained, then swing your free leg with the knee still, backward and forward, for a number of times. It is essential in this exercise that the knee be kept straight. Reverse the position for the other limb.

Bend the head forward relaxed and with the chin out.

Draw in with a pressing movement upward.

Rise on the toes, slowly sinking to the heels a number of times. Simple but effective.

High Upkeep? Empire Reds Help Beat It

While rubber has been bouncing up in price, Empire Reds have been boosting up mileage records. And they cost about the same as last year.

Empire Red Tires don't wear out prematurely, or give out or blow out easily. Empire Red Rubber is the toughest kind made and stays cool under terrific friction tests.

Empire Tires
RED WEAR LONGEST

Among users of "Peerless" Red Inner Tubes, we proved the superior wearability of Red Rubber. Empire Red Tires are the pioneer red tires and the only all-red tires.

Character

A MAN'S capacities are determined by several factors, chief among which is the fiber of the stuff he is made of. Like all of Nature's most potent forces this is invisible, and being so, it secures its expression in effects and results. Competency, energy and honesty—these qualities constitute greater worth. And their development creates character.

Motor cars, too, have character. It is injected and molded by the hand of man; its presence is conspicuous when put to the test.

Maxwell Motor Cars, for example, gain character and individuality by reason of experience, care and skill with which they are made. Every operation must strengthen the final result and thus the ability to give abundant and satisfying service is correspondingly increased.

As we specialize in the manufacture of light weight, standardized automobiles, we can and do concentrate our entire attention on those details that make for better motor car character.

This Gentleman Opposes Woman Suffrage

The Painting Is the Property of Mrs. Oliver Belmont, by whose Permission We Reproduce it.

The Indian Sitting on the Sled in This Picture Is Not an Absolute "Bromide."

He Varies the Ancient Formula and Instead of Saying "Woman's Place Is in the Home," He Says, "Woman's Place Is in the Harness."

THE man thinks that women are inferiors and ought not to vote, his thought dates back many thousand years. It accords with the thought of the gentleman in this picture. He does not know anything about votes, but he thinks, as does the opponent of woman suffrage, that he knows a great deal about women.

He thinks that woman's place is in the harness, pulling the sled and himself and the household goods, and carrying the baby on her back.

His son, belonging to the superior sex, is privileged to drive the dogs that drag the load.

* * *

It is time to take up again the woman suffrage agitation, for in the State of New York, in New Jersey, in Massachusetts and other States there are many intellectual brothers of this savage who believe in woman's inferiority, and who are themselves savages, although they don't know it.

All women were once like the women in this picture, beasts of burden, literally slaves. Nature's severe law, putting upon the mothers the creation of the race, and man's brutality, leaving to the mothers the care and protection of children, have kept women bound down and helpless.

Civilization has changed and improved with the changing and improved condition of WOMEN.

Where women are slaves, as in this picture, the men are savages.

And where women are slaves in the harem, as in Turkey, the men are worse than savages.

The man with intelligence enough to realize that high regard for woman means a better race, better civilization, means the difference between this savage woman and his own mother, should also realize that REAL justice and EQUALITY for woman will still further elevate the human race, lifting man with woman toward complete civilization.

* * *

It is unfortunately hard to get a new idea or a simple truth into the mind of a savage, whether it be the savage sitting on this sled dragged by a woman or the ignorant white man here in the United States who tells you that woman is inferior without being able to tell you why.

You cannot argue this savage into any respect for woman.

But you can SHAME HIM into better ways.

In his heart the savage will always believe that woman's place is in the harness, and that she is never better employed than when dragging him across the ground.

But he sees white men treating their women decently. He observes that the white man, who, with impunity, kicks him out of the way, helps a poor white woman to carry her burden. Then this stupid savage begins to treat his woman more kindly. He is not quite proud of his "woman's inferiority" theory.

The white savage who drinks his whiskey, sells his vote or casts it without knowing what it means the human being who has so little respect for his own mother as to call women inferior, is not of the sort that takes new ideas easily.

But like this savage opponent of woman suffrage, the man who objects to giving woman the right that he has CAN BE SHAMED INTO BETTER WAYS.

* * *

It is necessary, of course, to be very considerate of the feelings of those whom you wish to convert to woman suffrage. Some men are sensitive about their dignity—and the less they think of woman the more important they think themselves, as a rule.

Here are a few things that may properly be said, however:

If a man opposes votes for women, thinks it dangerous to get woman [illegible] of her place" [illegible] but remained [illegible]

The Patagonian, though [illegible] ought to be [illegible] especially after he [illegible] And part of the [illegible] with Patagonians [illegible]

The Patagonian [illegible] head [illegible] Then, with a stone, or [illegible] appropriate instrument, he [illegible] out her two middle upper [illegible] teeth.

From the beginning of her [illegible] married life she was made to [illegible] that man is the superior.

And other men, looking at her [illegible] the hole where the teeth [illegible] be, realized that she was [illegible] PROPERTY, and the Patagonian idea of the right treatment of woman was thoroughly lived up to.

* * *

If [illegible] who objects to votes for women has among his ancestors migrating Orientals, you can remind him that if he really lived up to the teachings of his ancestry he would refuse to let a woman learn to read and write, in addition to refusing her the ballot.

Oriental teaching has always been [illegible]

[illegible] you [illegible]

[illegible] Oriental [illegible]

[illegible] of [illegible]

[illegible] women [illegible] ly.

[illegible] that he [illegible] women [illegible] ought [illegible] way of [illegible] for America [illegible]

* * *

[illegible] whose [illegible] would [illegible] do you [illegible] protect [illegible]

[illegible] htly [illegible] feel [illegible] that [illegible] riots. [illegible]

[illegible] lite to [illegible] ther until to vote, it is perfectly correct to tell him that you object to his opposing votes for YOUR MOTHER and the millions of other women worthy to take their part in government.

* * *

Perhaps a gentle hint to the men you know that oppose suffrage could be conveyed [illegible]

Cut out [illegible] picture, mail it to your anti suffragist friend, after writing underneath it "This is the sort of man you are, although you don't realize it. You and this Indian feel in the same way about women."

What Tolstoi Really Thought of Life, Women and Art

The Late Count Leo Tolstoi in Pleasant Garb.

"Our world is governed by violence—that

"Under my feet is the frozen earth . . . and are gigantic trees . . . a somber sky. I feel my body, I feel the . . . my head, I am . . . will . . . oughts about 'resurrection' and 'eter- . . . ' I know and realize with all my being that the firm, frozen earth, the trees, the sky and my body and my thoughts are all only a product of my five senses, my representation, a world built up by me, because my separation from the world is what it is. No sooner am I dead and all this will disappear, but will change its aspect as do the transformation scenes in the theatre.

OUR BUREAU OF MISINFORMATION

DEAR QUEER: I. GNOR. How can I wash flannel to keep it without shrinking? Hall Room
Wear another pair while washing them.—Ed.

Editor—Why did they call Shakespeare the Bard of Avon?—Hani
Probably that was all they could think of at the time.—Ed.

Sir—How shall I manage to get an introduction to a charming young man I have seen several times?—Bashful.
Don't bother about it. If she likes your looks she'll manage to get an introduction all right. If she doesn't care to meet you, what's the use?—Ed.

Mister Misinformation Man—Where did Daniel Webster get all the words he put in the dictionary?—Skeiler.
If Dan put any in, he wrote them in by hand. Don't you Noah another Webster dashed off the dictionary?—Ed.

Misinformation Department—My sweetheart eloped with my aunt the other day right after I mentioned that she had a million dollars. She is a very plain and ugly woman. How do you account for it?—Sallie.
He doubtless though she would be an antidote for that tired feeling.—Ed.

Query Department Editor—Before the months were invented how did people know when it was time to pay the rent?—McPlatte.
Prehistoric man did not have to pay rent. He had a cinch, a life of ease. All he had to do was live in a wet cave and kill sabre tooth tigers, cave bears, ithosaguarians and rival cave men who sneaked around to have afternoon tea with his wife.—Ed.

Buy a freckle-hound and always cross over to the other side of the street when you see a freckle coming.—Ed.

Editor Misinformation Page—I would really like to get married. But I [illegible] your advice? Henrietta
Silly girl, only a very brave man gets married these days.—Ed

Sir—What does "de rigeur" mean? Lum Gwast
"De rigeur" is ancient Scandinavian, meaning "Pretty darn kippy."—Ed.

Editor Information Bureau—How do you hang wall paper?—Hubby
We hang it over the banister and send for a paper hanger.—Ed.

[illegible]
That's the title of a famous fairy tale.—Ed.

Mr. Information Dept.—Sir—How does the chief of the Weather Bureau know what the weather is going to be?—Gulshie
Who said he knows?—Ed.

[illegible] decided how many rooms to put in. All my relatives and my wife's relatives advise six or seven. Are they right about it?—Reporter.
One room—ONE—and no more, and advise your relatives to that effect.—Ed.

Lawn seed.—Ed.

My Dear Ed— [illegible]
"Give us, O give— [illegible] It's Fate.
We never met this person [illegible] in the movies, but if he said that, how about the next [illegible] for living?—Ed.

[illegible]
Never mind the rest, [illegible] how you feel. A lot of us think about it.—Ed.

My Dear Sir—[illegible] spending a year's [illegible] family lightly [illegible] could they turn to anything [illegible]

Mister [illegible] you think I'd do well as a dramatic [illegible] From your letter we are of the opinion you are better qualified to be a producer.—Ed

[illegible] and Juliet. Did [illegible] ought to read?—B. Luff.
Yes, he wrote a little more. Why not read "Mack," and then the sequel, "Beth"? Also "Tem" and then "Pest."—Ed.

"I took [illegible] Theatre as I took [illegible] as a part of [illegible] philosophy of Wm. Hodge, star of 'Fixing Sister' at [illegible] Theatre.

"It is to a party of friends to my [illegible] table [illegible]. It is impolite soup. I know [illegible] like tomato soup, but [illegible] I think it is good for you. We are going to have roast duck to-night. I assume you don't care for it, but I am so I am going to serve it. After dinner we will have some [illegible] music. You may prefer some other [illegible] but I love popular music [illegible] we will have it.

"[illegible] I could scarcely expect my friends to come again. Instead, when I invite people to my house I try to find out what they like to eat and what kind of music they prefer, and we have that kind of food and that kind of music. I may have to eat something I like after they have gone, but they have enjoyed themselves and they like to come to my house.

"It's much the same way when I ask people to come to the theatre, only in that case I charge them for coming. I hold myself under stern theatrical obligation to give them what they want. They like me in a certain kind of play and I would rather play [illegible] to a theatre full of people who went home pleased and satisfied than to give a wonderful performance of 'Othello' to a few persons."

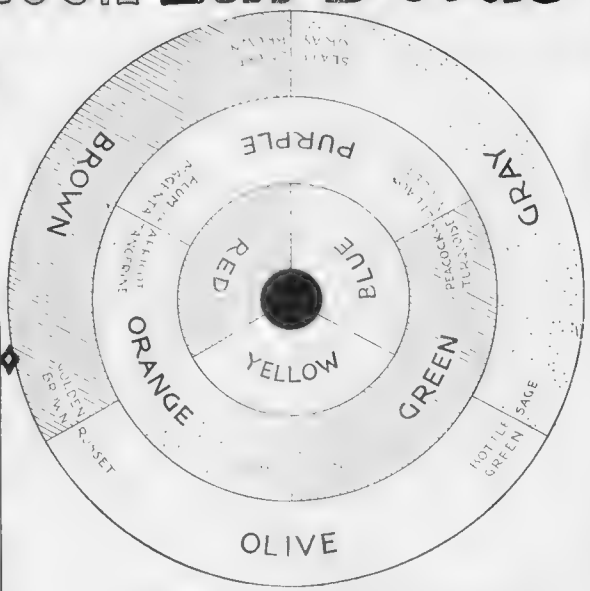
Making "Stout" People Look Less "Stout"

Albert Malsin, the Mechanical Engineer Who Has Made a Serious Study of "Stout" Women and Their Clothes.

Pounds Substracted from Their Apparent Weight, Inches Added to Their Seeming Height, by Constructing Their Clothing in Accordance with Certain Well-Known Scientific Principles

By Albert Malsin, M. E.



This Interesting and Valuable Chart Shows the "Stout" Woman How to Select Colors Which Harmonize and Therefore Make Her Look Less "Stout."

The Central Disc Represents Black Which Harmonizes with Every Color. Outside This Are the Three Primary Colors—Red, Yellow and Blue. Then Come the Various Secondary and Tertiary Tints and Shades. Yellow and the Various Colors Which Harmonize with It Are Indicated on White Backgrounds; Red and Its Harmonious Colors, on Lined Backgrounds; Blue and Its Harmonious Colors on Dotted Backgrounds.

Even a Woman as "Stout" as Miss Aught Sometimes Is When This Photograph Was Made Can Dress in the Height of Fashion and Look Less "Stout" Than She Really Is.

On the Left a Stout Woman in Clothing That Is as Unscientific as It Is Unbecoming and That Makes Her Look Far Larger in Every Way. On the Right the Same Woman in a Suit Which Is Extremely Fashionable and Whose Lines, Color and Materials Have Been So Intelligently Selected and Arranged That It Accentuates the Good Points of Her Figure and Hides the Bad Ones.

Next Sunday Mr. Malsin will explain why hats, gloves, veils and other accessories the "stout" woman should wear in order to complete the illusion of correct and slenderness whose foundation is laid by the scientific combination of lines, and materials in her gown.

A wa[illegible] owing and cultivated woma[illegible] will borrow [illegible] arties of the Orient. In the L[illegible] ge she has learned [illegible] ease, and will she has learned [illegible] essen[illegible] ective costumes that we call Oriental. [illegible] of grace and of seductive womanly beauty.

Here I show you photographs of some of the costumes I exhibited the fashion fete I gave for the benefit of the "Orphelinat des Armees," the little orphanage [illegible] The [illegible] photograph I have here called a "Harem Veil House-Gown." The [illegible] of the [illegible] dress itself is [illegible] but [illegible] Yet it has all the charm of the immemorial East.

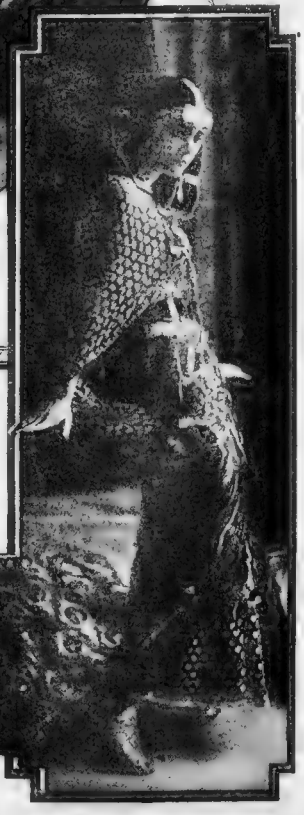
The [illegible] comfortable but [illegible] morning lounging [illegible] the [illegible] I get my one that I think [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] in very soft turquoise blue and silver brocade, [illegible] in one of pale blue and silver silk.

And by the way, [illegible] I [illegible] put the world [illegible] summer furs. The [illegible] for all the coral blue one will [illegible] much in vogue. Many [illegible] are being combined with net and tulle, and even with fea[illegible] about useful effects. There is, for instance, the ripple cape made of moleskin combined with old blue maline in the form of a ruff placed at the base of the fur collar. Then there is the always satisfying combination of ermine and mole found in certain [illegible]

Many of the new effects depart from scarf-like lines and have a coatee suggestion. They show broad revers, high flaring collars and extended shoulders even though they do not possess sleeves. It may be said, in fact, that there is almost as much variety in the new assortment of summer furs as in all other departments of women's wear.



The Large Picture Shows the New Harem Veil House Gown. It Falls Over a Loose Waist and Baggy Trousers of Embroidered Net.

MORSE-MADE CLOTHES

"If it's at Morse's, it's correct; If it's correct, it's at Morse's."

AS the conditions surrounding the clothing industry place constantly increasing strain upon the value-giving power of the clothing store, the advantages of the house of Leopold Morse emerge in bold relief.

Never in the 64 years of our clothing experience has the advantage of making "Morse-Made" clothes in our own shops been so BIG an asset to you as it is today.

In spite of an increase in the cost of everything used in clothes-making, the Morse Spring line for 1916 still continues to uphold the long established Morse reputation for solid worth at moderate prices.

All the best new fabrics are included shown in a striking assortment of smart new models, tailored arbitrarily to the Morse standard of perfection.

When you pay

$15 $20 $25 $30 or $35
